

MEDIATOR TRAINING

40-HOUR CIVIL MEDIATOR TRAINING

THE TRAINERS

Harvey Burdick Ph.D., professor emeritus of psychology at Oakland University, is a past Chair of the Board of Trustees for the Oakland Mediation Center and a member of the National Association for Community Mediation. Professor Burdick has held mediation trainings for representatives of businesses, government, courts and the community in Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Ingham and Genesee counties. He has mediated cases for Michigan Circuit, Probate and District Courts.

Jean Goddard, M.A. Psychology, is a consultant to the Oakland Mediation Center for community and circuit court mediation trainings. She has mediated cases for Michigan Circuit and District Courts in addition to community mediation. Ms. Goddard has a masters degree in Social Psychology from the University of Virginia.

This training is designed for every person who wishes to learn the art of facilitative mediation. In this course participants will have an opportunity to update dispute resolution education, improve facilitative consulting skills, represent clients in mediation and fulfill the training requirement to be listed on the Circuit Court list of mediators.

Through a combination of role play, simulation, discussion and videotapes of actual mediation, this workshop takes participants through the entire process, from of pre-mediation communication to the completed memorandum of agreement.

Seeking Resolution through Mediation and Education

THE CENTER'S TRAINING

In recent years, mediation has become a prime resolution alternative for resolving conflicts. It is a process by which two or more people involved in a dispute, either professional or personal, meet in a private, confidential setting to work out a mutually acceptable solution to their problem. They are assisted by a neutral person, called a mediator.

Oakland Mediation Center began operations in 1990 and has been providing mediator training to courts, governmental agencies, businesses, judges, attorneys and individuals for longer than any other SCAO approved civil court mediator training program in Michigan. The curriculum is designed to teach participants the skills necessary to act as third party neutrals in facilitating the resolution of disputes arising out of many situations, while providing useful resources. Center trained mediators have mediated disputes involving family, insurance, construction, employment, consumers, landlord/tenant, education, professional/client, property, contracts, guardians/conservators, personal injury, malpractice and others.
